

Planting for Pollinators

At the Canton Library

Tuesday, June 21st

5:30 p.m.

Celebrate pollinators and learn about the types of plants that help them thrive with Dr. Bill Skelton, Director of the Haywood County Cooperative Extension Agency.

A Giving Garden Program

Please call (828) 648-2924 for more information

Free Planting for Pollinators Class at the Canton Library

Learn about the types of plants that help pollinators thrive at a free class on Tuesday, June 21, at 5:30 p.m. at the Canton Library. Haywood County Cooperative Extension Director Dr. Bill Skelton will discuss why we should celebrate pollinators and what we can do through our gardens to support their important work.

This is a Giving Garden program. The Giving Garden is a raised-bed vegetable garden and Monarch butterfly garden located behind the Canton Branch Library that is used to teach various aspects of gardening. It is an education-oriented joint initiative of the Haywood County Public Library, Haywood County Cooperative Extension Center, and the Extension Master Gardener Volunteer Program, and is supported by the Friends of the Library and the Master Gardener Volunteer Association.

For more information on the pollinator class or the Giving Garden, call the Canton Branch Library at (828) 648-2924 or visit www.haywoodlibrary.org and click on the Giving Garden tab.